Great portable size for my travels!

I am adjusting to the new keyboard and love the detachable 12 inch tablet mode. It's a great large size for sharing screen shot and photos.

Nice tablet let down by awful audio

On the whole this was a great product with one large flaw. The speakers and audio system were clearly damaged. The audio was raspy, rattly and voices were almost inaudible. We checked new drivers to no avail. We tried a headset and that worked ok, so it was clearly the speaker subsystem that was problematic. After this we saw other people commenting about seeing this issue on their machines. One person returned their tablet to HP only to be sent another one with the same issue. We had no time to send it back as this was going direct to a customer as part of a larger system and audio was not only going to be a beep...so we could live with it this once.

Not What The Sales Rep. Said!!!

I was looking at this 2-piece computer, but the Specs on it wasn't clear so I called HP about it. The Rep. told me that it had USB2.0 and USB3.0 ports, also he told me that it would accept a full size memory card, all lies! The ports are the little C ports, think of the port that charges your phone, and the card reader is a micro card reader. The plastic wrap was so clear that I didn't even need to unwrap it. I sent it straight back for a refund.

Problems

From the start this computer has too many problems . First even though I bought this from HP 10 days prior it did not have me listed as under warranty . It took forever to find the nos for customer service and it was a hassle to get connected to the right service . The computer also ask me for my age and if you are under age, it is a real hassle to change the password. Why it asks for age I am not sure. On top of that it won't allow ne to connect to my e-mail and download citrix correctly to access my work files. Something that the other older HP computers do. This is a very unreliable computer and naked it difficult to do anything. Next tine I will just buy a Mac or Lenovo.

It makes annoying grinding noise

I bought this laptop a year ago. It started making very annoying grinding noise which makes it hard for one to concentrate while using the laptop. I contacted them and they informed me that I will be charged $450 to fix the issue since the warranty had expired a month earlier. I would not advice anyone to buy this product.

SOUND COMPLETE GARBAGE

Purchase date 7/18/2019.....2nd Purchase date(replacement) 7/20/2019...PLEASE SEE ATTACHED VIDEO. HP says their "Bang and Olufsen" speakers are their premier speakers...at least that's what the "customer service" rep told me over the phone. I ordered this HP Envy X 2 and right out of the box the speakers sounded like garbage with "Cortana " leading you through the set up. Went through the setup thinking maybe I could fix it through the settings. Nope...didn't work. Played video on YouTube...same issue. Called HP...set up return and replacement. Sent video's to HP of the issue...no response. 2ND HP ENVY X 2 COMES.....SAME ISSUE !!!! REALLY HP ????? Sending both back...taking my business somewhere else. O...and I did google the issue. This sound problem has been going on since 2013
